ADDRESS
OF THE
HON. WILLIAM SIMES, MAYOR, AT THE
ORGANIZATION OF THE CITY COUNCIL,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., JANUARY 7TH, 1862.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:

Having assumed the position assigned to me by the suffrages of my fellow-citizens, I should be recreant to the deep sense of gratitude I feel, were I to refrain from expressing my sincere acknowledgements for the honor they conferred, and the confidence they have evinced, in re-electing me to become their chief executive officer for the ensuing year. Strengthened and encouraged by this manifestation of their approval, and animated by an earnest desire for the promotion of their best interests, I shall enter upon the discharge of my duties with renewed energy and zeal.

We commence this municipal year under circumstances of somewhat peculiar character; the war into which our beloved country has been plunged by the traitorous endeavors of those who in their fanaticism have outraged every principle of constitutional liberty and justice, so sacred to all true American hearts, necessarily entails upon our city expenses hitherto unknown and unlooked for, rendering it more incumbent upon us than ever, to exercise the most discreet foresight, the utmost vigilance, and the truest economy, in the administration of public affairs.

With these few suggestions relative to the proper fulfillment of the trusts confided to our keeping, I will now, in accordance with established usage, submit to you a brief statement of the present condition of the several departments, together with such recommendations as in my judgment are calculated to increase their efficiency ; referring you for details to the reports of their respective heads.

An exact statement of our finances cannot be obtained at this time, but will soon be published.

The expenditures will exhibit an excess over the appropriations, of twenty-nine hundred dollars. This excess occurs mainly in the department for the support of the poor, to be attributed to the following causes :

The crop of hay on hand, as yet unsold ; the large stock of wood on hand, already paid for ; and the payment of four hundred dollars for wood, which properly belonged to the expenditures of the preceding year. Our city has also been subjected to many unforeseen and unavoidable expenses, for which no appropriation was made. No increase of the City debt will be necessary, since the money to be obtained by the sale of hay, and the refunding by the State of a portion of the sum expended for the support of the families of volunteers, will amply redeem the deficit.

Each administration should, as far as possible, liquidate the debts of its own contraction. To effect and facilitate this I would recommend that all persons having claims against the city be directed to present them for adjustment quarterly. This would, I think, accomplish the desired result, and prove beneficial to our financial interests.

Whilst our National Government has been actively engaged in the suppression of rebellion, we, as a City,—not unmindful of the obligations due to that Government, to whose protecting power we are indebted for all the civil blessings we have enjoyed in the past, and upon whose success in the present crisis we are dependent for our future welfare and prosperity,—have endeavored by every means, both public and private, to furnish such aid and assistance as was in our power.

A fund was appropriated for the benefit of the families of volunteers, the distribution of which was entrusted to a Committee from the Board of Aldermen. The expenditures up to the present date have amounted to about forty-two hundred and fifty dollars, a portion of which will be refunded by the State.

A liberal and judicious expenditure is always justifiable on our streets and roads, since their good condition adds much to the neatness and general appearance of our City, and precludes the liability to suits for damages. All repairs should be performed in a thorough and substantial manner. A large amount of labor has been expended on the streets the past season, and, with few exceptions, they are in very good order.

An appropriation was made for paving a portion of Islington street, but at the commencement of our present National difficulties this was rescinded, and transferred to the Volunteer fund. The lower part of this street is much out of repair, and should, as soon as practicable, be either paved or graded, according to Mr. Harris's plan, as the upper portion has been the past season.

Lafayette Bridge, and the road adjoining, were damaged by the storm in November last. Owing to the lateness of the season, they were but partially repaired, and will need further repairs the coming year, for which I would recommend a special appropriation.

Two horse-teams for the use of the City were purchased last Spring. Although designed principally for service on our streets, they have been employed in all the various departments, and have proved eminently satisfactory.

The Alms House, and buildings connected with the Farm, which at the beginning of the year required extensive outlays, have been put in a state of complete repair. An addition has been built to the barn, under which is a fine vegetable cellar; a granary made, water introduced into the house, and various other improvements, conducive to the neatness, convenience and general good appearance of the institution, have been made.

The Bridewell connected with this institution was consumed by fire, in the latter part of December. Temporary accommodations have been arranged to serve the purposes of a bridewell during the winter, but in the Spring it will be necessary to rebuild.

The productions of the farm have been good; but owing to the decreased value of its great staple, hay, and the failure of the apple crop, the income will not be so large as in some former years.

The management of the house under the superintendence of Mr. and Mrs. Norton, is deserving of much commendation. The average number of inmates has been increased nearly one-third over the preceding year, consequent in part upon the system adopted by the Overseers of the Poor, of sending to the House such indigent families as have heretofore received partial assistance from the city, and acquired the remainder of their subsistence by street begging.

This system, while it may be accompanied by somewhat more expense, relieves the community, it is believed, in a measure, from a practice that was rapidly becoming a crying evil in our midst, and was educating a class of vagrant children, fit candidates for our jails and penitentiaries.

There is always a considerable expenditure, varying according to the activity or stagnation of our industrial pursuits, for the partial support of those who, reduced by sickness or adversity, are dependent upon our aid and assistance. Whilst there is no portion of our taxation more readily borne by our citizens than that for the relief of the suffering poor, yet there should be the greatest discrimination exercised, in discerning between the truly deserving, and such as are able to earn their own livelihood, but prefer to gain it by public charity rather than honest labor.

Our public schools, which ever demand our fostering care and protection, have, under the charge of a corps of faithful and efficient teachers, maintained the high reputation which they have universally enjoyed. At a time like the present, when the severest tests are being applied to the principles of our free Government, we cannot too highly estimate the advantages of our educational institutions, constituting as they do, one of the most inestimable privileges bequeathed to us by our forefathers, and the very foundation of our civil and religious liberty. Their immediate superintendence is entrusted to the several School Committees; hence our chief duty is to appropriate a sum adequate to their support, which I doubt not will be most cheerfully granted.

Our police force have, under the charge of our worthy and vigilant City Marshal, performed their duties in a faithful and efficient manner.

The stationing of the New Hampshire 2d Regiment in this city, largely increased their duties, making an additional force necessary a portion of the time, thereby increasing the expenditures of this department.

In the selection of those who are to execute our laws, we should endeavor to make choice of men possessed of that courteous, yet firm and decisive, bearing, so important to success with those whose vocation brings them in contact with every description of crime.

In this connection, I would suggest for your consideration, whether our police force could not be advantageously reduced in number. Their present compensation is not sufficiently remunerative to command any large proportion of their time, and it is the opinion of many that a smaller number, properly paid, would preserve the public peace and quiet in a superior manner.

Nothing contributes more to a feeling of security from the devastation of fire, than a knowledge of the existence of a well-organized and well-disciplined Fire Department. To promote and maintain such an organization, is one of our most responsible obligations. The requisitions upon this department, the past year, have been frequent, often under adverse circumstances; yet, thanks to the prompt and energetic action of our firemen, we have been exempt from any serious conflagration.

There is a great deficiency of water in the central portion of our city,—and I deem an additional reservoir, located in some suitable position, absolutely necessary.

From information which I have obtained from the Chief Engineers of several of our neighboring cities, I am confirmed in the opinion expressed by me at the organization of our last City Government, in regard to the great superiority of steam re engines over common hand engines, both in efficiency and economy. The purchase of one for the use of this city would enable us to dispense with two hand engines, rendering the department more efficient,—and would, I think, meet with the approbation of the public generally.

This is a subject well worthy of your thoughtful attention, and I would bespeak for it your early and favorable consideration.

Gentlemen,—In conclusion, I can but advert to the prompt attendance on business, and the uniform courtesy and harmony, which have characterized the relations of both branches of the late City Government.

That these attributes, so essential to our mutual happiness and perfect deliberation, will continue to reign in our councils, I doubt not.

Commencing the ensuing year with a firm determination to pursue the path of duty in a manly and consistent course, untrammelled by pledges, and actuated by the purest devotion to the public good, may we not indulge the hope that, with the blessings of the benignant Providence, whose protecting care has ever been vouchsafed to us, our efforts will not be entirely unavailing, in promoting the welfare and prosperity of our city at home, and her honor and fair name abroad?

ANNUAL REPORTS
OF THE
CHIEF ENGINEER OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT,

AND
SUPERINTENDENT OF THE ALMS HOUSE,
OF THE
CITY OF PORTSMOUTH,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1861.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE

To the Hon. Mayor and the City Council:

GENTLEMEN:—Our Fire Department continues to maintain the high reputation it so justly deserves. Our city has been exempt from any serious fire since the commencement of the year—the fires at Messrs. Chesley & Call's lumber yard and the Pier Building occupied by Charles Walker, being the most destructive.

The Department has been called out the present year eighteen (18) times for the extinguishment of fires, and seven (7) times by false alarms. The engines, hose and other articles belonging to the Department, are in most excellent order, with the exception of the carriage for the Hook and Ladder Co., which is totally unfit for the purpose for which it is designed, being so heavy and cumbersome that it is almost an impossibility for them (even with a horse to drag it) to arrive at a fire as soon as they are needed. In many cases, ladders are required even before the engines, and then we are compelled to obtain them from the buildings in the neighborhood—thus causing, in some instances, a delay which might be dangerous.

Therefore I would earnestly recommend that a new carriage be provided for the company, constructed on the plan now used in our large cities, light yet serviceable,—so that in case of necessity it may be dragged with speed by hand, if required.

Eight hundred feet of hose have been purchased by the Department during the present year,—and both old and new hose have received a thorough oiling during the past month.

The deficiency of water at the west part of the city, is the cause of much uneasiness to the owners of real estate in that portion of the city ; as, in case of a fire in the vicinity of the Middle street Church, there is no place to obtain water, but the aqueduct stop near the house of Samuel Lord, Esq., that we can rely upon. Therefore it is again recommended that the long talked-of reservoir be built near Haymarket Square, or in Court street.

The reservoir on Austin street has been put in good order, and can now be depended upon for use.

The buildings appropriated for the use of the Department are all in good condition, with the exception of the one used by the Hook and Ladder Co., and that used by the Hose Co., both of which are in a miserable condition, and unfit for the purposes for which they are used. The house occupied by the Hook & Ladder Co., especially, is but a fire-trap, and has been already the object of one incendiary attempt, during the absence of the company at another fire,—and but for the opportune return of the company to the house, in season to discover the fire and give the alarm, we should have witnessed, probably, the most disastrous fire we have had for many years.

It is also recommended that a hose tower be built on Engine House No. 6, and that water be put into each of the Engine Houses early the coming year, as the companies are now subjected to much inconvenience in obtaining water with which to wash their hose.

An alarm bell is needed very much on Engine House No. 5. It is also recommended that two canvas suits be furnished each company for the use of the pipemen at fires.

I cheerfully bear testimony to the promptness and fidelity with which the members of the Department discharge the several duties that have been assigned them,—nothing, to my knowledge, having occurred the past year, in the Department, to disturb the harmony which has prevailed since its re-organization, in April, 1861. A healthy rivalry is always desirable, to secure promptness,—and I am not aware that any other than this exists at the present time.

The same class of men who entered the Department under its new organization, still remain in it—men trained up to act for themselves in the great battle of life, they evince the same activity and courage in facing and subduing the treacherous and defying element,—at all times manifesting a hearty willingness to obey orders, seeking exposed and dangerous positions, rather than shunning them, and all working cheerfully together to accomplish the purposes for which they have been appointed. Much has been done by the City Government for the comfort and convenience of the Department, of late; yet much more remains to be done, in order to keep up a sufficient interest in this important branch of our City Government.

In closing, I take this opportunity to say that the police have rendered me valuable assistance by their prompt attendance at the fires,—for which they receive my thanks.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.
